Initialize the particle swarm

Calculate the fitness values of each particle

Update the individual optimal position and global optimal position of the particle

Update velocity and position of the particle

Calculate the fitness values of the new particle

Whether the conditions are met

Output

Sort particle swarm according to fitness values

Replace the worst half of the particles with the best half of the particles

Yes

No